SEDBERGH PARISH COUNCIL

This report covers items from the Parish Council meeting held on 9th April 2015. The next meeting will be our Annual Meeting of the Parish on Tuesday 12th May 2015 at 7.30pm in the People's Hall, Sedbergh. Please do come along to this public meeting and have your say on what you would like to see happening in Sedbergh. Then our Annual Meeting of the Parish Council on Thursday 14th May 2015 at 7.30pm in the Committee Room at the People's Hall, followed immediately by our normal monthly meeting.

SEDBERGH COMMUNITY TRUST

A presentation was made by Tony Reed Screen and Keith Wilberforce representing Sedbergh Community Trust, in relation to the proposal for a BMX/Skate park on the playing fields at the People's Hall. Following a recent survey and ongoing liaison with young people in Sedbergh, there had been an overwhelming support for a BMX/Skate park. It was recognized by the Members that some public consultation would need to take place. Points to consider included the proximity to the football field and playground, possible screening, a separate entrance and ongoing maintenance, however, it was agreed to support the project in principle at this stage.

Dear Mr Raymond

would like to invite you to the Annual Parish Meeting

To be held at the People's Hall, Sedbergh on Tuesday 12th May 2015 at 7.30pm

This is YOUR meeting and an opportunity to come along and discuss what has been done during the last year and have your say on what you would like to see happening in the future.

What is the 'Vision' for Sedbergh Parish in the short and long term?

Come and give us your views and ideas about the facilities and developments you would like to see in the Parish.

The possibility of introducing a 20mph zone in the town will be discussed – what is YOUR view?

Also, the proposal for a BMX/Skate park?

We aim to finish by 9.30pm. Refreshments will be provided.

Footway repairs, Main Street, Sedbergh

As you will know, work commenced on the re-flagging of Main Street in early March but has now been suspended, apparently as a result of an incorrect mortar mix being used. The partially completed work has left the town's footways in a highly unsatisfactory condition with open joints, discoloured stone flags and loose sand on the pavement surface.

The Parish Council, at its meeting held on 9 April, considered the many complaints received from residents and businesses who are concerned not only about the quality of the work undertaken thus far but also the uncertainty about when work will recommence and the possible need for further road closures. Members noted that the communication between your Authority and the Council has been less than satisfactory since work ceased and no indication has been given as to when the project will be completed and the nature of any remedial work necessary.

The Council meeting has asked me to express its very considerable concern over this matter and to seek a re-assurance that the completion of this project will be given priority by your Authority. An early response to confirm the timetable you are now working to would be appreciated.

Yours sincerely

BLOOD DONORS

Make a May Day pledge and make a date to donate in Sedbergh this May

As May approaches it brings with it the promise of warmer weather and two very welcome public holidays.

NHS Blood and Transplant is reminding people in [insert area] to think about those less fortunate than themselves and make a date to donate.

Hospitals across England and North Wales need more than 6,000 blood donations every day to treat patients. While many people think that blood is used mainly for accidents and emergencies, donated blood is vital for a wide variety of life-saving procedures. A blood transfusion can help to save the life of a new mother or it could be used to treat blood disorders, such as sickle cell anaemia and Thalassaemia.

Amanda Eccles, Senior Marketing Coordinator at NHS Blood and Transplant said:

"As the weather gets better we understand that people would like to spend time enjoying it with their loved ones but please don't forget about those patients who rely on blood donors to save their lives or keep them well, so they can enjoy the good weather too."

"It is always an important time to give blood, but stocks can be more vulnerable around public holidays. We would like to encourage both new and existing donors in [insert area] to take the time to donate blood this May.

"We can promise them a warm welcome and the satisfaction of knowing that their life-saving donation will be used to help people.

"Giving blood should take less than an hour from arriving at your appointment time to completing your donation. So make the time to give blood, you never know whose life you could save."

Every blood donation is vital, but NHS Blood and Transplant particularly needs to ensure supplies of the universal blood group O Rh Negative which is often in short supply as demand is so great. We also need to ensure supplies of the rarer blood groups A Rh Negative, B Rh Negative and AB Rh Negative as these are also vulnerable to shortfall.

In general, as long as you are fit and healthy, weigh over 7 stone 12 lbs (50kg) and are aged between 17 and 66 (up to 70 if you have given blood before) you should be able to give blood. If you are over 70, you need to have given blood in the last two years to continue donating.

To book an appointment to donate visit www.blood.co.uk or call 0300 123 23 23 to find your nearest session.

It is also easy to book through mobile apps for Windows, Android and Apple devices. To download the app, search 'NHSGiveBlood' in the app store.

SEDBERGH SHEEPFEST 2015

Saturday 12th to Sunday 20th

September

LAST YEAR WAS AMAZING – THIS YEAR WILL BE UNBELIEVABLE!

Not quite at liberty yet to confirm some exciting news about this year's festival - which will affect the theme - but the Festival has been extended by popular demand to cover 9 days. The sheep trail will be throughout Sedbergh and at Farfield Mill for the whole of this period with specific activities and events taking place over both weekends. Visitors will be encouraged to stay for at least two nights, to take in the first weekend of Sheepfest, the Westmorland Show on Thursday 10th September, Kendal Torchlight Procession Friday 11 and Ulverston's Lantern Parade on the 12th. (Local accommodation please take note and do promote this amongst any previous customers).

If you'd like to be kept up to date, make a sheep, attend workshops or help the Sheepfest Support Group by e.g. offering ideas, distributing publicity and/or the running of the Festival - if only for one day – please leave your name, phone number and email at the TIC, the Craft Shop in Main Street or phone Farfield Mill on 015396 21958 and we will get back to you.

Joseph (Neil Kernahan's sheep) was such a fine ambassador for Sedbergh that he will continue to be the 'face' of future events. (You may remember him from banners and leaflets last year, and he's at the head of this article).

Sheepfest gave a tremendous boost to us all last year both emotionally and, as local businesses will testify, economically. As a result Farfield has put SEDBERGH SHEEPFEST forward as 'Best Small Event of the Year' in this year's Cumbria Tourism Awards competition – and if it doesn't win they're ain't no justice!

DENTDALE W.I.

Fifteen members came to our April meeting on a very pleasant spring evening.

The business for the evening revolved around plans for future events, including the Lune Valley Group meeting on 18th May when we will be hosting the competition table. The theme for the competition is a puppet in a Centenary box, and as usual our creative members had a lot of good ideas.

We also talked about fund-raising ideas for our chosen charity for 2015, Manna House, and narrowed down suggestions for our summer outing to two alternatives, Dalemain House or Leighton Hall.

Our speaker for the evening was Marilyn Hale, who gave a demonstration of encaustic art. Most members had to admit their complete ignorance of this, so we were enthralled to see Marilyn make beautiful landscape pictures in a matter of seconds using wax and a hot iron. She then gave us the opportunity to have a go ourselves, and although it was not as easy as it looked some wonderful creations were made. Marilyn kindly gave us one of her pictures as a raffle prize, which was won by Marion Feltham, and Sue Owen won the competition for the best picture produced on the night.

Our next meeting will be on Wednesday 13th May at 7.15 in Dent Memorial Hall. New members are always most welcome.

HOWGILL W.I.

The April meeting was held at Firbank Church Hall. Bridget Postlethwaite (President) welcomed all members and two visitors.

The three members who attended the half yearly Council Meeting spent an enjoyable evening. Speaker Julia Soames McCormick took us into the Wendy Higgins a member of Tebay and Orton W.I., spoke about their concerns over cuts in services and public transport in rural areas. Howgill got a mention on our concerns on the present crisis in the dairy industry. She stated as an organisation based in the country we should stand up and be heard on issues that concerns us.

The County is holding many special events this year being the 100th anniversary of the foundation of the Womens Institute. These include a sail on Windermere, art exhibition and a grand entry in the Torchlight Procession.

We are taking part in the Let's Connect Day on May 2nd meeting up for tea at Old Hutton joining other W.I.'s from our area.

The speaker for the evening was John Vendy of Bentham Bees. He gave us a fascinating presentation giving us a clear introduction to the lives of honey bees. He favours the natural approach to beekeeping without the use of chemical treatment for pests and diseases and only minimal intervention. Bees play a role in the pollination of up to three quarters of global crops also flowers, fruit and vegetables. Farmers would face huge costs if they didn't have bees to help them. A decline in the

No lists of honey bee facts would be complete without the reference to that famous dance by honey bees "The Waggle Dance".

Dilys McCaffrey thanked John for doing so much to spread the practise of natural beekeeping.

The competition for a home made bee was won by Sarah Syred with Audrey Hoggarth second. The social time was a Sheep Quiz which was won jointly by Liz Moore and Dilys McCaffery. The evening was brought to a close with our Jacobs join and get together.

We will meet on May 7th at Howgill Village Hall when Jean Scott Smith will be giving us some Folklore, Customs and Superstitions of the Lake District.

it out before so this is it. We worry that we can't do the task ahead well enough, so keep putting it off. Then when we have our backs to the wall we find that we can do it and are cross because we could have done it better if we had had more time. One of the reasons I like travelling by car with one other person is that one has the chance of a quiet conversation, deep or inconsequential, whatever you choose. No radio, nothing from 'the sound system', even shut off Mrs/ Ms Sat.Nav. You can say and listen to a lot between Sedbergh and Winchester. I understand that the therapists tell us that we should spend "quality time" with our children!

So onto more quality time ... a meeting of Killington WI, held in a quality venue. All usual business was conducted satisfactorily with a few reminders from the floor! It was another exceptional month for birthday greetings as we congratulated Anne Jones on reaching her 80th and as you all know by now, a 80th birthday means cake! We had better be careful though.....last month we had a 90th birthday, this month an 80th. If it carries on like this, by August we will have someone as young as 40! Sadly our birthday girl, Anne, was unable to be with us as she was still at home coping with the aftermath of a jammed ball cock in the loft. (We should keep our cisterns in the cellar). We shall make it our business to see that she is jammed with cake

We continued last month's historical theme this month. Our speaker, Glenys Marriots' subject was, "Those who left the Dales". Glenys, a member of The Upper Dales Family History Group, is the editor of a book of the same title. This tells the stories of many families who emigrated from the Dales, some to far flung lands and others to less distant locations. Glenys told us the tales of some of these families and illustrated them with precious pictures. It was fascinating. Several of us took the opportunity to buy the book which is thoroughly researched and which I wholeheartedly recommend. As someone who was drawn to the area by family connections I was very happy to express our thanks to Glenys. If you would like a peek at the book, I have a copy.

STOP PRESS. Our congratulations to Sedbergh (Frostrow) WI for winning the WI cup at yesterday's Spring Show. It was a great achievement. We'll be after it next year! While on the subject of the Show, my personal thanks to all those members of Killington WI who made and served all the splendid refreshments.

Our outing to the Tulchan shop at Cowan Bridge on March 18th was very enjoyable, thanks to their vivacious manager, Karen, who demonstrated a talk on 'Layering up your Look' using the three Spring-Summer colour 'stories'. We liked some of the 'stories' much better than others, but then we are all conscious of the colours that suit us individually so those that don't will have less appeal. We also had a preview of the Autumn-Winter collection, and learnt that all the Tulchan fabrics and garments are designed by the team at Cowan Bridge.

Talking about 'stories' reminds me that the walking group, whose walk on part of the Limestone Trail happened to coincide with the date of the Tulchan visit, had quite a story to tell when they arrived, very apologetically, a few minutes late for the start of Karen's demonstration. First there had been some confusion over the path they should have taken, which caused some delay, and although they had arrived at the designated pub in plenty of time for lunch, it had taken the staff 45 minutes to actually produce their food. Anyway, they were able to enjoy most of the Tulchan demonstration and take part in retail therapy with the rest of us afterwards!

The 'Reading Aloud' competition run by the Cumbria-Westmorland Federation of WI's took place in Sedbergh People's Hall on March 23rd. Sixteen teams took part, including our own inimitable team who won the Federation Cup last time: Anne Petyt , who did the prose reading from the 'set book' about the history of the WI over the last 100 years, and Denise Thomson who chose to read a very amusing poem about a pig by Roald Dahl. The adjudicator commented about all the teams individually in the order in which they appeared and had nothing but praise for Anne and Denise so we were very hopeful of their chances, but they were pipped at the post by Levens WI who performed last. Those of us supporting Sedbergh WI felt that our team had definitely been runners-up. They did us (and the other WIs in the Sedbergh area, none of whom entered this year) proud.

Local author Jean Briggs was the welcome speaker at our monthly meeting on April 9th. “Why the Dickens was Charles a Detective?” was her intriguing subject. After her retirement from teaching English she was faced with a dilemma: her husband was an artist with a studio at home to work in, but what was she going to do? A throwaway comment by the speaker at her retirement party: “Perhaps she’ll write a novel?” set her off on a new career and fascinating research into 19th century history, as well as biographies of Charles Dickens, who, she came to realise, could well have been interested in detective work and solving mysteries, so she made him the hero of her novels with Superintendent Jones as his partner. Her first novel, “The Murder of Patience Brooke”, based around the Home for Fallen Women that the philanthropic Charles Dickens did indeed set up, was published by the Mystery Press in 2014. Her second novel is due out this year and there’s a third on the way. Jean spoke very entertainingly about her novels and read us some gory passages, which are certainly not for the squeamish! Some of us are enjoying reading the first novel now! Jean decided to write as ‘J. C. Briggs’, following the example of ‘J. K. Rowling’: we wish her the same success as the latter!

More books the next day! Meeting at Moira’s house, the book club discussed “Oscar and Lucinda” by Peter Carey, his first Booker Prize-winning novel. As often happens, the fact that a book that has won high accolades doesn’t necessarily mean that everyone finds it enjoyable and several members didn’t finish this one, partly because of other commitments. We did like a number of things about it, however. An average score of about 6 was given.

Our May meeting is traditionally our ‘Resolutions Meeting’ when we discuss the resolutions put forward for discussion and action by the National WI. There is only one resolution this year, supporting care in later years, since the decision has already been made nationally by ballot, but we are looking forward to hearing a speaker from AGE UK telling us about their work before we enjoy a Jacob’s Join supper. We’ll be meeting in the committee room at the People’s Hall at 7.30pm on May 13th. Visitors are always welcome.

A THOUGHT FOR EASTER

Sentimental American movies and other media from across the pond are not really my cup of tea. But I was drawn to the real story of the family of an American church minister, whose experiences of the next life bring hope to all who have suffered loss and bereavement and cause the sceptic to think again. If you work through the sentimental presentation of the book, "Heaven is for Real," you come to realise that hundreds and hundreds of people all over the world have experienced ecstatic experiences of heaven during a time of life threatening illness which are hard to explain away.

The story centres on the young son of the minister who becomes dangerously ill in hospital and has an out of body experience where he visits heaven, encounters dead members of the family and his soul goes on a journey around the hospital and sees and hears things that he cannot have possibly overheard as he was in a different part of the hospital when these events took place. All rather fantastical until you work through the scrutiny the story undergoes from the boy's father. He deals with the science of near death experiences, that when the body nears death it releases narcotic type chemicals which promote a feeling of bliss and can cause hallucinations, which in itself I find rather comforting!

But the boy's testimony relates to conversations of family members in other parts of the hospital and detailed knowledge of dead family members in heaven. He gives precise details of his father's visit to the hospital chapel and his mother's phone conversation in another part of the hospital, all whilst he was unconscious. The book contends the boy could not have had any prior knowledge of this information and medical science could not provide an explanation.

What the book reminds us is this no one off - countless others have had similar experiences of heaven, which cannot be explained as the hallucinations of a failing body. Their narrative, their story about God. That word 'God' is as old as human history and has evolved with us. Definitions crumble away from it. The informing reality, the ground of our being - phrases work for a moment, and no more. The modern way of life, our use of time and language, none of them help us to know that reality. If to many people 'God' is not a usable term at all, nevertheless, modern life does not give self-understanding and peace. We all need something inside us that can't be pushed around by TV and the High Street. I don't think it matters what we call it. It matters what we do.

'Worship' too is an ancient term for acknowledging whatever is of most worth, what is central and informs our lives. As a Quaker, I don't use any set words, but worship within silence. Though our social testimonies are founded in the teaching of Jesus, we don't hold any religious doctrines, so we don't need to reinforce them by speech and song. Silence rests language and thought. It frees us from our habits of speech and lets in new light. 'Waiting on God? The Spirit? Our shared humanity? All definitions meet and fade in the experience.

Anyone can make a quiet time. Try resting your mind from its busy-ness and its habits for a while. What is it we are reaching for in the silence? That part of ourselves which is most 'tender', most open to the truth? 'The love that moves the sun and stars', the end of the service; sent the solemnity of the previous week into the past tense.

We tried some new routines this year for Holy Week starting with Choral Evensong at Cautley church on Palm Sunday. Judith and Maureen had made sure the church was cosy and warm whilst over at St Mark's Barbara had food and hot drinks prepared for the congregation to enjoy after the service. The choir from St Andrew's put the "choral" into the service and what a super job they did.

The quiet evening services of Compline followed by Stations of the Cross went to each of the three churches, St Andrew's, St Mark's, and St John's on the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with St Andrew's hosting an Ecumenical Service on the evening of Maundy Thursday when the congregations from the Methodist Church and United Reformed Church joined together with us to remember the Last Supper.

Good news was made with the announcement that the Lent Lunches had raised over £700. This is to be divided equally between St John's Hospice and The Ebola Crisis.

The lovely warm Easter weather was but a memory when the Teddy Bears had their picnic.... which was more of a Tea Party in church as the wind made it just too cold to be outside. The children enjoyed the Vicar's talk and the action songs led by Judith. The accompanying parents and grandparents joined in from start to finish and all had a jolly time, even the washer-uppers enjoyed themselves!

On Monday 11th May at 7.30pm we have what is called "The Archdeacon's Visitation". The Venerable Penny Driver is the Archdeacon of Westmorland and Furness, which includes the Kendal Deanery which in turn includes us. The Archdeacon will have several "Visitation" services to attend in May throughout her area. It is a legal requirement for the elected Churchwardens (usually two per church) to be sworn in at one of these services. We look forward to welcoming Penny and members of the other churches in our Deanery to St Andrew's.

The following was submitted for April but due to the technical problems, did not appear. Ed.

Inventories can be boring. Not so when doing the annual Inventory at St Andrew's.

Keeping a record of the fixtures, fittings and valuable items is a necessary requirement to be carried out by the Vicar, the Churchwardens and two members of the Parochial Church Council (PCC) before the Annual General Meeting we hold in March each year. In law we are accountable for the church building and all that it contains.

So, we get together and start ticking items off the list. Usually the silver in the safe comes out first for checking and then we go into the main body of the church to see all is present and correct according to the inventory.

Some items have interesting names like “reredos” which is the decoration behind the altar. In St Andrew’s the reredos behind the main altar is made of wood and behind the altar in the Lady Chapel we have a “dorsal” or “dossal” instead which is a made of cloth but does the same job as the reredos.

In many instances names and dates are engraved on items of silver, doors, pieces of furniture, sometimes where you least expect them, sending the imagination into overdrive as you try to conjure up what that person was like and where they lived and what role did they play in the life of St Andrew’s and Sedbergh.

When Freddie was baptized on Mothering Sunday at the font made of Dent marble the inscription around the hood of the font records that it was built in memory of Rev. Howell and the daughter of Richard Willan. The beautiful and I have to say, my favourite item of all because it is so delicate is the Mother-of –Pearl shell used to pour water on Freddie’s forehead as a sign of his baptism... this was “Given by the children in memory of May Croft” in 1908.

My curiosity led me to try and find out about May Croft and it seems she was only a child when she died. I wonder if “the children” were perhaps the Sunday School children?

Perhaps the next Inventory will lead my curiosity to another bit of research.

The Cumbria Community Messaging System (CCMS) is a method of disseminating information about local issues from public service providers and it is available to everybody free of charge. The preferred method of communication is the e-mail but, if you do not have an Internet connection, messages can be received by text or telephone.

CCMS is provided by Cumbria County Council and sends out information from:

- Their Trading Standards Division ... about retail scams, mainly on-line and telephone fraud, but also about bogus doorstep callers. They also send out alerts relating to product safety recalls.
- The Police mainly about crime alerts and requests for

- The Fire and Rescue Service mainly alerts and reminders about home safety.
- The Cumbria Neighbourhood and Home Watch Network send out messages about national initiatives aimed at reducing crime and keeping safe.
- North West Electricity provide information about power failures.
- Other providers are Age UK, The Police and Crime Commissioner's Office and Cumbria Community Safety Partnership.

If you are worried about information over-load, you can choose from whom you wish to receive alerts.

In Sedbergh and Dentdale, the Parish Council's are promoting CCMS as part of the Neighbourhood Watch scheme and, so far, 160 households are registered with CCMS. Across the whole of Cumbria, over 7000 homes and businesses are registered.

CCMS provides a range of message options for those with special interests. Proprietors of small retail outlets, horse owners, farmers, 4x4 owners, church wardens, caravan owners and other interest groups can elect to receive alerts relevant to their needs. Although the aim is to target messages only on the areas affected, if you have interests elsewhere in the county eg. a business or perhaps an aging relative, you can elect to receive alerts about that area too.

If you register with CCMS you will not receive any on-line advertising and there is no political or religious content. You can also terminate your registration at any time. CCMS is registered with the Office of the Information Commissioner for Data Protection purposes.

To register with CCMS:

SETTLEBECK NEWS

Well done!!

GCSE Geography students Jess Labbate, Jenny Lomax, Sophie Waller, Alan Brian, Izzy Colton, Zoe Cragg and Stan Gough teamed up and beat 11 other teams from QES and Kirkbie Kendal School to achieve academic success. They had to plan a Tsunami Disaster Relief effort for the Japan 2011 earthquake and tsunami, a challenge set by the Royal Geographical Society. They got to take home some giant world maps as their first place prize.

Extreme Physics

During the Easter holidays we stayed at Barnard Castle to participate in the Extreme Physics 2015 Competition. This was a nationwide tournament testing our physics knowledge through a series of experiments and challenges. These included making and testing our parachutes by dropping eggs from a balcony, figuring out the weight of an alien and making a 1-minute timer. Awards were presented for teamwork, knowledge, achievement and creativity. On the second day we went to Airkix in Manchester to experience indoor sky diving and climbing. It was awesome and we would definitely do it again – 10/10 physicists would agree!!

SEDBERGH SCHOOL NEWS

Over the last 12 - 18 months the school's Conservation Group that looks after Bruce Loch and Old Peculiar has concentrated on some pretty major coppicing work (which needs doing every 10 or so years) as well as the clearing of the Reed Mace and Phragmites which needs to be done on an annual basis. To you and me these are bulrushes and the common reed, but the latter can spread at a rate of 5 metres a year. It would appear that the mink that has been causing problems over the last few years have finally gone , which is good news for the nesting water fowl, and to encourage them the Conservation Group is hoping to get some nesting tubes installed.

Towards the end of last term Tim Farron and four others came to the School for a "Hustings", which was held in the Arden Theatre with Tom Robinson, the Head of School, in the Chair. Tim Farron said it was the most Question-time like debated he had been to other than on Question Time itself.

The Wilson Run duly took place. The weather managed to allow most of the runners to get home under blue skies and sunshine though a few laggards got caught in near sleet. The race was won by Jonty Campbell, whose brother Archie Campbell won it last year. He was nearly two minutes ahead at Cautley, and nearly six minutes ahead at Danny Bridge, eventually winning in one hour eleven minutes and 43 seconds, three minute and 39 seconds short of the record, and three minutes 44 seconds ahead of G Porter who came second. The first girl in was Charlie Neate who came in 18th overall with a time of 1 hour 30 minutes and 17 seconds. One hundred and twenty eight runners were clapped onto the stage at the evening concert. One boy, Alfie Blackhall, was seen limping badly as he crossed the road at Cautley but was seen still struggling on at Danny. He finally made it to the end in 1 hour 45 min 26 seconds in 48th place, failing to beat his father's time by 23 seconds. He'll do it next year! A collection was taken after the concert for the Air Ambulance and the Leeds Hospital who treated the boy who nearly died on a run at the beginning of term, due to an undiagnosed heart

The rugby season came to an end with the Army Sedbergh Rugby Tens tournament. Ten schools competed including two teams from Sedbergh School. I am glad to be able to say that once again the host's A team won beating RGS High Wycombe on a disappointingly cold and wet afternoon.

By the time this is published the new term will have begun. The first cricket matches will have taken place before terms starts when the 1st XI will have been at Worksop. The first home match of the term proper is Myerscough College on 22nd April. On 25th April they play Lancaster Grammar School, on 26th the Old Sedberghians, on 29th they play Yorkshire CCC Academy, on 7th May the MCC, and on 16th May Shrewsbury. While the 1st XI play Ampleforth away on 2nd May the A1 and A2 teams will play Ampleforth teams at home. The A1 and A2 will also play Cumbria on 3rd May. There are, of course, many other teams playing cricket matches at home and away, and many playing tennis, golf, sailing, and athletics etc. Details of these can be found on the School website calendar. The Athletics finals will take place on 23rd May. The more noisy cricket games are likely to be inter-House matches! Everyone is welcome and encouraged to watch any of the games the School plays.

On Thursday and Friday 21st and 22nd May the lower half of the School are putting on a play in the Arden Theatre (below Powell Hall) and everyone is welcome to that. Space is, however, limited in the Arden were recently selected to attend the County Football Trials up in Carlisle. With a large and strong field of girls who play for larger clubs, they performed fantastically well and I am proud of them for trying out for the team.

The Year 7 netball team played some great netball in the District Netball Competition at Windermere in March. They beat QES 4-0, KKS 6-0 and Dallam School 4-3 to reach the semi-finals, only to be narrowly beaten by Windermere School. Finishing third out of ten in a district competition is a brilliant achievement. I am very proud of all of my netball girls as is our teams' sponsor, Dorthe Pratt from Sedbergh Soap Company, who kindly came to see the girls in their last training session to give them a small selection of goodies from their range.

22 students have successfully completed their Junior Football Leaders qualification. This has given students the knowledge and experience to lead football sessions and organise competitions, giving them leadership, organisational and communication skills.

We are excited to announce a partnership with Kirkby Lonsdale Golf Club who are beginning to coach our students at their club on a weekly basis. I am looking forward to seeing the students' skills develop at golf.

KILLINGTON HYDRO

The Hydro scheme at Broad Raine, Killington 50kW, 35kW or 32kw?

As a Killington resident and known to have been involved in this project in the past, I have been asked by opponents to the scheme to explain what I see as the true electrical value of this development.

The planning permission and approval states 50kW. So where does this figure come from?

32 kW is the designed output (Installed Capacity), the important figure.

50 kW is the amount of water power required to guarantee the 32 kW of electrical power, although this maybe of interest it is of little importance.

55kW is largest rated component on the site and it may be capable of producing this mechanical power, but only if the site was re-designed and re-equipped, and 35 kW is the maximum output of the smallest rated component, so although again possibly interesting it is of little importance.

An analogy of this can be made to the tyres fitted to a car, the speed rating of a tyre usually greatly exceeds the cars capability.

I therefore conclude that the 50kW on the planning application is not significant, and perhaps deliberately misleading, as suggested by opponents to the scheme.

So what is the maximum usable power available?

Because the consumers are not at the site, electrical conversion and transport losses of at least 5% can be expected, so the useable maximum power reduces to 30kW.

To bring this into perspective, one medium sized saloon car travelling at 70 mph requires 35kW.

So what is the electrical energy production?

It is currently predicted by the applicant to be 186340 kWhrs / annum.

From the government DECC statistics and also used by STAK (Stop Turbines At Killington), ignoring transport losses it could supply the electrical meter requirement of 39 houses/annum.

If you include conversion / transport losses this reduces to 37 houses/ annum.

If using the incorrect figures as Banks Development did for the Killington wind farm, then 56 houses/ annum is the result.

I hope this is informative and useful to your readers to put into perspective the electrical effectiveness of this type of scheme.

Peter Sugden. Killington.

CHRISTIAN AID in Sedbergh and District

Christian Aid Week's events are beginning here in Sedbergh and District on Saturday 9th May with our Dent coffee morning and continue to the following weekend. Please look at the advert in this edition of the Lookaround for details of what is on as there is a major change this year. After many years when the 'Shop' in the URC rooms was a major feature of our week's activities, changing conditions and reduced footfall over recent years led to the decision that it was time to discontinue it and concentrate on our coffee mornings during the year, which have been so very well supported. Our heartfelt thanks go to Mrs Kath Hannam who has put so many hours and so much dedication into the running of the Shop over the years and to her husband, Tony, for the solid supportive background work he has done, lifting and shifting things for the

'Shop' and producing eye-catching window displays in the town through the week.

This year we are having a Coffee Morning on Wednesday 13th May in the URC rooms, Sedbergh. The door to door collections will be taking place as usual and we look forward to the friendly and generous response which our volunteer collectors have received in the past. Extra collectors are always valued as we don't have sufficient at present to cover the whole of the town and district. If you'd like to know what it involves why not have a chat with Rosemary Handley, who co-ordinates it, or one of the other committee members. Local Churches will be supporting the week, not only through members helping out in the various activities but also in prayer and focus on the work of Christian Aid in services during the week.

What is it all in aid of? Basically to transform lives from the domination of poverty to the freedom of secure self sustaining lives through development aid channelled through agencies working at grass root levels in local communities. An example of how this works is in this actual case study in Borena, Ethiopia.

Loko is a young woman struggling to live and support her children. Loko's choice in life is simple: 'If I can't collect firewood, my children will die.'

Four times a week, in a remote corner of Ethiopia, Loko makes a back-breaking eight-hour trip to gather wood. It's a task she dreads, but she steels herself to do it because if she doesn't her children will starve.

She prays to God as she walks. 'I ask him to change my life and lead us out of this,' she says.

In the Borena community, girls are expected to fetch and carry wood and water to provide for their family. Denied a good education and the respect of their community, women are trapped in a life of poverty.

Loko dreams of owning a cow. Why? A cow changes everything

Two years ago another woman, Adi, was the poorest of the poor. Then Christian Aid provided a cow which gave her family nutritious milk. Adi churned butter and made money. It gave her a position in the community where her opinion is valued. Now her dreams have turned into plans and she has saved enough money to build a small shop too.

So it could be for Loko. Selling the milk from a cow would provide an income.

An income could help set up a business.

This would give Loko status and a voice in her community.

A voice means speaking up for women, challenging domestic violence they experience, and ending discrimination.

At each step, Christian Aid journeys alongside poor communities as they walk free from poverty.

Just £5 could give Loko a loan to start her own business buying and selling tea and coffee, freeing her from her desperate tasks as they are now and allowing her to spend more time caring for her family.

Better still, with your help, we can provide cows to vulnerable women in Ethiopia – just £150 is enough to buy a cow and a promising future for someone like Loko.

To find out more about Christian Aid, how and where it works, visit their website at: <http://www.christianaid.org.uk>, click on 'What we do' and then on the 'Blog' for recent dispatches from round the world.

NATIONAL PARK NOTES

Every National Park in England has two, of what are called, "statutory purposes". These are:

1. To conserve and enhance the natural beauty, wildlife, and cultural heritage of the National Parks
2. To promote opportunities for the understanding and enjoyment of the National Parks by the public

If at any time a conflict arises between these two purposes then the former takes precedence as a result of the "Sandford Principle" so-called because of the court case which gave rise to this legal ruling.

Ever since being a boy and watching House Sparrows out of my bedroom window with a pair of opera glasses I have been fascinated and delighted by all forms of wildlife, particularly birds. No surprise therefore that a prime focus of my membership of the YDNPA over the last four years has been in relation to conservation issues and what is called, in the jargon, bio-diversity. It is one of the objectives in the YDNPA current Management Plan to "establish baseline population estimates for all monitorable priority species by 2016, and to set targets to get the population of these species stable or increasing". To find out more about both national and local Biodiversity Action Plans and the European Habitats Directive visit the Park website (www.yorkshiredales.org.uk). wildlife website (www.natureinthedales.org.uk) which goes into considerably more detail on the individual species (whether flora or fauna) and where they can be seen. There is also an exciting new venture The Northern Uplands Chain Local Nature Partnership (www.nuclnp.org.uk) of which our National Park is a leading member. My particular speciality interest is in Raptors (Birds of Prey) and I have an especial concern for the welfare of Peregrine Falcons, Hen Harriers and Goshawks all of which can be found in the Park. Unfortunately the situation regarding Hen Harriers is not a happy one and despite the fact that considerable areas of moorland both in the YDNP and the Nidderdale AONB are perfectly suited for the breeding of this species – as a result of illegal persecution very few young birds (even when the adults are able to nest at all) survive the first few months. The RSPB considers it a major problem and has for years worked with other agencies such as Natural England and the Moorland Association in an attempt to come up with solutions but so far with very little success. The Hen Harrier is a stunningly beautiful and iconic species and to find out more have a look at the Skydancer part of the RSPB website (www.rspb.org.uk/skydancer) and also view the Hen Harrier video which has recently been posted there. It is worth a look.

The Goshawk is a bird which all but became extinct in this country but which is now making a gradual comeback largely as a result of intentional and unintentional releases by falconers (known as austringers in the trade). If you want to learn more about this fabulous and immensely powerful bird I recommend reading “H is for Hawk” by Helen MacDonald which has recently won two top literary prizes for best non-fiction work of the year.

Another element of National Parks which makes them so special is the opportunity to get away from it all and enjoy the peace and tranquillity which they offer. As the Management Plan puts it [in the Yorkshire Dales National Park are to be found] “extensive areas where a true sense of tranquillity, remoteness and solitude can still be found, which is rare in England today". John Muir the founder of the Sierra Club in the United States put it in a slightly different way – "I only went out for a walk, and finally concluded to stay out till sundown, for going out, I found, was really going in". An acknowledgment I think that our inner state reflects our outward environment and which given the right external circumstances can lead to deep inner peace, maybe even mystical experiences. To explore these ideas further I would highly recommend the two following books: "The Wild Places" by Robert Macfarlane and "The Living Mountain" by Nan Shepherd. If you are interested in the even wider project of what is becoming known as "re-wilding" then George Mombiot's book "Feral: Re-wilding the Land and Sea and Human Life" is a must. And for a flavour of the possible re-introduction of what were once native species see, for example, www.lynxuk.org.

I must say that I give thanks every day for living in such a wonderful part of England and for the beauty and extraordinary scenery and wildlife to be found in our National Park. It is a privilege to serve the local community of Dent, Garsdale and Sedbergh as a member of the National Park Board. So I would like to set a little competition to stimulate more interest in particular in the mammals living in our three Parishes. It is in two parts:

 2. Secondly make a list of those mammals which you have actually seen yourself

Then send it to me at ianmcpherson24@hotmail.com and I will publicize the winner in my next article. There will also be a small prize which will have a connection with the theme of this article. Go on, give it a try, and good luck!

COUNCILLOR CORNER

The meeting of the Respect Group took place last month as scheduled and gave some promise that preparations for the 2015 Appleby Horse Fair were well in hand. As far as I am concerned the Respect Group, (in spite of the weird name inflicted upon it by county council politics ten years ago) continues to do a productive job. It reports to the Local Area Partnership but it must remain independent. Yes it liaises with the Eden Body but it should not be subsumed into it: if that were to happen there would be no voice for the affected residents of South Lakeland.

My personal battle with DEFRA over the new Basic Payments Scheme continues. For England alone the abandoned computer system has cost £154 million to date. This is for a computer application to do badly what the previous Single Payment Scheme program did reasonably well. There is a long standing joke that when something goes wrong at the BBC "deputy heads will roll". I suspect the same will be the case in DEFRA and the Rural Payments Agency. Those who should be carrying this stinking can will probably emerge unscathed.

It leaves the larger question as to whether DEFRA should continue to exist at all. It was invented by Tony Blair as an act of vengeance upon the farming community for making his government look ineffective over Foot and Mouth Disease. Its creation will always be linked with the then minister Margaret Beckett and the Foot and Mouth supremo, Lord Haskins: it is a testament to the quality of the paint sold in North Yorkshire that the graffito, "Cull Haskins" remains visible on one of the signs coming out of Hawes. DEFRA was a bad idea badly conceived and badly implemented. We need a return to a Ministry of Agriculture, otherwise it will continue to be one BPS fiasco after another.

Yorkshire Dales is consulting upon the latest version of its housing policy. I am cheered that the 90 sq m rule for new houses has been removed, it was sneaked in behind the backs of members. It was a ridiculous idea and all the more bizarre when in Germany it is illegal to build houses of less than 212 sq m. The removal of local and affordable elements from developments of fewer than six houses is also greatly to be welcomed. What a pity it required national government intervention to bring that about. How about allowing barn conversions like the rest of England outside National Parks ? If that were to happen planning policy would be back to the situation prior to 1989 and we might have some prospect of dealing with the shortage of housing for local people.

Looking after the housing needs of local people was always my key priority when I was on the NPA and that remains the main reason I want to be back. Sadly, until there are direct elections those members who don't give a damn will remain in the majority.

TIM FARRON MP

As you would have expected I have been a bit distracted by the election this month. If I haven't actually knocked on your door over the past few weeks then one of our volunteers should have done and I would have done if time had permitted. Anyone who goes out knocking on doors with me will tell you that it can be a bit of a nightmare as I tend to get chatting to most of the people who open up their front door to greet us. But, I argue, this is one of the most important ways for me to find out what it is that people are concerned about and what I need to start working on if I am lucky enough to be re-elected on May 7th. I have really enjoyed working for you over the past 10 years and I really hope that I get a chance to fight for this area for another five years but that is entirely up to you.

The polls will open at 7.00 am and close at 10.00pm. In Sedbergh and Dent you also face an election for one of your councillors on South Lakeland District Council so you will get to cast a couple of votes when you turn up at the People's Hall or The Sedgwick Room.

I would, or course, prefer it if you voted for us but the most important thing is that you ensure that you do vote. Whatever you think of politics and politicians, not voting is effectively handing over responsibility for who represents your views in Parliament (or Kendal) to those who do go and vote. In addition I think you also need to bear in mind that you are not just voting for a set of policies, a great deal of our time is taken up helping people with issues like housing and employment and health care, you need to also consider who you feel is most likely to be there for you should you be unfortunate enough to have any problems. Only you can decide this and many people have told me how hard it is to make a decision this time around. All I ask is that you do make a decision and that you make sure you go and vote.

Whatever happens on May 7th thanks for all of your support over the past 10 years I have tried my best to fight for the people in this area.

Best wishes

Tim Farron MP

PREVENTATIVE MEDICINE

A friend of mine has just received a diagnosis of being pre-diabetic and having high cholesterol as a result of some blood tests. He is quite upset that he has been given such a negative prognosis. So what can he do about it? The idea came to me to lend him a book I have, called "Nine Ounces", written by Bob Flaws, one of the Chinese medicine stars in America.

It was written in the late eighties and its long title is "A nine part program for the prevention of AIDS in HIV positive persons", but actually it is a manual for preventing or delaying the development of any chronic disease. The author says, "My belief is that an HIV positive person could possibly live his entire life without ever developing a full-blown case of Aids. Or more modestly, need not develop active AIDS until advanced age and natural debility allow the latent virus to become active". My own belief is that a similar principle applies to other latent diseases, such as family history of heart disease or in my friend's case being pre-diabetic.

Bob Flaws' programme is based, not upon fighting a disease, but upon strengthening the body and making it more resilient. His nine points are:

- Chinese dietary therapy. The basic energy to do this comes from our food so the first thing to do is to sort out the diet and the digestive system. If you would like to have a précis of Chinese medicine dietary principles, I can send you my "Healthy eating guidelines" by e-mail (jmpacupuncture@gmail.com).

- Aerobic exercise for at least 20 to 30 minutes every other day. I would suggest either Tai Chi or Yoga on the other days – having seen the health benefits of regular practice for myself.
- Deep relaxation (using a CD if that makes it easier) every day, citing the Chinese medicine aphorism "Small benefits after 100 days, big benefits after 1000 days". After the first 100 days he reckons the benefits are: more red and white blood cells produced, better circulation, high blood pressure comes down, low blood pressure normalises, brain waves show increased tendency to relaxation, improvement of appetite, elimination, sleep, energy and mood.
- Abdominal self-massage to regulate the digestion. In Japanese traditional medicine, keeping the abdomen supple and pain-free is a way of aborting disease processes at an early stage. If you are interested in this, contact me and I will photocopy the relevant pages for you.

- Being a Chinese medicine specialist, Bob Flaws recommends acupuncture and Chinese herbal medicine as treatments. He sees the low-tech methods of diagnosis, such as feeling the pulse as being a particularly effective in detecting imbalances at an early stage. He sees other low-tech natural therapies as being similarly advantageous.
- In Chinese medicine, sexual moderation is advised to conserve the long-term energy resources of the body.
- Visualisation – this is often recommended for cancer patients, but all of us can benefit from visualising the body and mind being purified and free from obstructions. In Asia there is a strong tradition of such practices.

• Cultivating a healthy attitude, recognising the suffering of others and being willing to help them. Living in the moment with awareness and simply doing what needs to be done next.

We all have predispositions to diseases of one sort or another and something will get us all in the end, for sure, so why wait for a diagnosis before we start to look after our health?

11th April which was a wild and windy event with 14 sailors from a range of clubs in the Lakes and Scotland coming to race. With the wind rarely below a Force 5 and gusting to 6, it was not surprising that a number of sailors retired during the day but a diehard fleet of 6 survived to the end of the final race, even if the race officer by then had almost sunk in his committee boat with the waves breaking over the bow! Killington sailors took all the podium places with Shaw Brown first, Tim Luke 2nd and James Thomas 3rd (and 1st youth). It is testament to the membership that plenty of volunteers were on hand to run the event; catering, rescue boating, admin, race management.

Our next public event is part of the RYA National Push the Boat Out week - we will host an open day on Sunday May 17th from 11am – 3pm. All are welcome to sample our dinghy sailing facilities but we would ask for prior contact to be made to make sure that we have plenty of suitable help on hand (mpr@sedberghschool.org). The intention of this day is to give people a sample of dinghy sailing and then we hope to offer a weekly Tuesday evening session in the rest of May and June for those who want to explore their interest further. Our eventual aim is to give people the interest and skill to take part in "Bart's Bash" on September 20th which is an informal (but Worldwide) race carried out simultaneously at venues all over the world. Last year 20,000 sailors took part! Killington hosted a small youth regatta as part of that event started by a Trumpet call by Sedbergh Bandsman Geordan Moss.

Killington Reservoir is a canal header reservoir which is the largest managed by the Canal and River Trust. It also happens to be their northernmost and contains about 1300 Olympic swimming pool's worth of water! The main dam was built as part of the canal extension to Kendal in 1819. In 1839 the dam almost breached but the reservoir keeper cut a channel with a spade at one end of the embankment to release the water; "The pent up waters rushed with fearful violence through this new breach, increasing its dimensions at every stroke. The torrent dashed through the valley below committing fearful ravages..... and inhabitants of Old Hutton and Holmescales fled for their lives" (Westmorland Gazette). By 1841 the dam had been repaired and raised to its present level at which time the secondary dam was also constructed.

We have just gained planning permission and now seek grants towards building a new jetty to further enhance our facilities up at Killington. We have a grant application in already to purchase equipment and coaching for windsurfing. If anybody would like to know more about how to get involved in watersports at Killington, please do not hesitate to get in touch with the secretary, Myles Ripley by email (mpr@sedberghshool.org) or phone 015396 21101.

NATWEST BANKING

The following letter was received by a Sedbergh resident and is published for information of readers. Ed

Dear Sir,

I was pleased to be able to speak with you on Monday, and as promised I am writing concerning our service for NatWest customers in Sedbergh. You said you would read this out at the forthcoming Chamber of Trade meeting and I would really appreciate you doing so.

When we decide to close a branch we do so after much careful consideration and deliberation, and not for one second do we underestimate the impact upon the affected local communities. We work hard to engage our local customers and communities when we make such decisions with a particular emphasis on ensuring all of our customers know all of the other ways they can access their banking needs. These include visiting the next nearest branch, 24/7 telephony, ATMs, On-Line Banking and Mobile Banking. Customers can access basic needs in the Post Office and many communities also have the benefit of regular visits by the Mobile Branch.

In the case of Sedbergh Branch I can say unequivocally we had no prior knowledge of Barclays similar and almost concurrent announcement. And in response to their announcement we immediately changed our own plans to support the community by agreeing to leave the ATM in situ and adding an extra visit day to the Mobile Branch schedule. And whilst I appreciate that the Mobile Branch schedule is not quite as convenient as the former branch (which was only open part time 3 times a week), the Mobile Branch does visit 16 communities during the course of the week, many of which have never had a NatWest Bank or have not had one for very many years.

The Mobile Branch is manned by very experienced colleagues (including people who used to work in Sedbergh Branch) and visits Sedbergh on a Monday and Wednesday each week. It can undertake many of the transactions previously undertaken in the former Branch. For ease of reference the main services include: Cash deposits, cash withdrawals, bill payments, provide live balances and has an on-board customer phone facilities for contacting central areas to enquire about loans, credit cards, mortgages, insurance, etc . also provide pre ordered Foreign Currency and businesses can order change.

The nearest Post Office is about 100 metres away and accepts all types of transactions, such as: Cash withdrawals (up to £300 for personal and £500 for non-personal customers), cash deposits, balance enquires, pay in cheques and change giving. There is also another full offering Post Office within 1 mile. (Not sure about this paragraph. Ed)

I took on board your comments regarding peak demand for the ATM and will share these with the Bank's ATM Service Providers. I also discussed briefly with your wife the benefits of a bank account for your social enterprise (which given turnover levels would operate free if in credit) and I am happy to arrange for one of my business colleagues to discuss options with you should you so wish.

DENTDALE & SEDBERGH PARISH NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH NORTH WEST ELECTRICITY PRIORITY SERVICE REGISTER.

North West Electricity is the company that operates the national electricity grid in our area. (It will not be your energy supplier.) North West Electricity maintain a priority services register of households where there is someone who would be at risk in the event of unplanned power failure. In the event of such failure, North West Electricity will consult the register and endeavour to give priority to restoring power to those at risk or, if the restoration cannot be achieved quickly, give alternative support by, for example, alerting supporting agencies like the Red Cross or perhaps offering the loan of a small electricity generator.

Households can be added to the register by going on-line to electricitynorthwest.co.uk/priority

On the home page there is a click here button at the end of the first paragraph that will take you to the registration page which lists those who are deemed to be 'at risk'. It is a fairly long list but, to summarise, it is mainly those with a medical condition or some disability and this extends to those where advancing years may limit ability to cope without power. The need to maintain freezers and refrigerators is not seen as a reason for priority.

Part of the Neighbourhood Watch ideal is to look out for others in the community. Please alert those who you believe may need priority service registration and may not have seen this message. If you know of vulnerable neighbours who may not have an internet connection, you can, after consulting with them, put them onto the register via your own internet device.

Please be aware that whilst the telephone network carries its own low voltage power supply, many modern cordless telephones or those with answering devices rely on an additional power supply and may not function when there is a power failure. If your telephone does not work without an additional power supply you can buy a basic 'no frills' corded telephone for less than £10 which can be plugged into your telephone socket in times of emergency to ensure you can maintain contact with others; assuming of course that the telephone network is not also disrupted.

DENT DALE CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

What an encouragement that 10-15 people meet twice a month, one Friday evening and one Sunday evening, to share fellowship together and to pray for the dale. In April we also seemed to share food together quite often, 16 of us for Passover celebration on Good Friday evening, then a good number for the FFWF (Friday Fellowship with Food) and then the monthly Sunday evening gathering.

Amongst other things we pray for God's blessings on the farmers especially with the busy lambing upon us and for any we know who are struggling in any way, for local committees and situations, for the businesses and for the school. We are beginning to pray and plan for events through the summer, all are open to all, and for the opening of "Shepherds Dwelling" Quiet Garden. As ever, we are not a closed group, everyone is most welcome to join us.

For more information please contact; John & Sarah E Woof, "Rhumes" Laning DENT. (015396) 25212.

FAMILY MUSINGS

Anyone been "May gosling"? Like April Fool but in May, my Dad got my Mum every year with, "Heck, there's sheep in the garden!" and of she went to chase them out, except they were not there. An elderly auntie who was born in Cowgill at a house at Stone House, moved to Keighley and then was buried at Cowgill used to show me her autograph book and in it was a "picture of an airoplane out of sight"! Do you remember how someone always wrote in such a book about how they would "by hook or by crook be the last in this book" but often were not? I do not possess any famous autographs but sometimes find a piece of paper or a letter and recognize the writing on it of a loved one, long gone, what a treasure. One letter I found recently was sent by an elderly lady in Sedbergh who cared for me in my pre-school years, Auntie San I called her, the letter was sent the day after me and my then boyfriend had had a date to ..Sedbergh Methodist Guild! Life really rocked back in the 70's! She was inundated with visitors the next day thinking as she knew me she would have 'inside information', the letter made me smile as she had written "Is this young man a Christian, what does he do, has he good prospects, and was I going to marry him!!" Sadly, she didn't live to see that yes he was, yes he has and yes I did. Bless her.

Do you remember how Crimplene was all the range once? I had a much loved green patterned crimplene dress, got it new to wear to a Youth Appeal function during the Queen's Silver Jubilee when Prince Charles came to Cumbria to launch his appeal. One day, in the shop, I leant over a paraffin heater to reach a box on a high shelf and the material began to melt! Going back to the Silver Jubilee Youth Appeal there were a lot of functions all around the County and Mum and I went to them all. Sizergh Castle, Lowther, Greystoke, Levens Hall & Holker, all to tempt people to part with their money.

Who loves colouring-in? There are now official colouring books for adults, very therapeutic I am told and can hardly wait. Perhaps as I take auntie home to the NE I could try it for awhile. She has been in contact with various parts of the health care of this area and is grateful to them all, as are we.

Keep calm folks. The politicians are doing enough shouting for all of us and I find it much more interesting to spend time with grandchildren than watching the TV, unless it is Pepper Pig of course!

SEDBERGH & DISTRICT CHAMBER OF TRADE & BUSINESS

16th March 2015 meeting report

We have had quite a few new members join this year so it was good to see some of them at the March meeting. We are always looking for more – the more representation the Chamber can have from business the more it can help Sedbergh. The recent changes and disruption on Main Street is inevitably causing challenges for the community as are the changes in the way Natural England is affecting the farming Community. The Chamber is here to be a forum to help – so even if you are not members but can see a way in which the Chamber can highlight or support an aspect of your business

SINGING SEDBERGH & SLOVENIA

It's now 10 years since the first singing group came from Zreće to Sedbergh - a small group of farmers who sang folk songs based on the poems of local folk poet Jurij Vodovnik. Vodovnik was sometimes referred to as the singing newspaper because he would travel from farm to farm and on the journey make a song about the people he had just stayed with which he would sing when he arrived. Naturally everyone tried to be as hospitable as possible in case they got a negative review in his songs.

The group, called Ljudski Pevci iz Stranic (which translates: "male folk singers from the village of Stranice,") spoke no English but it didn't stop them from coming to the folk session with Ken Pope and many other musicians in the Middleton Head pub. Half way through the evening the then Slovenian Ambassador Iztok Mirošić turned up in the Embassy BMW (number plate: SLOV 1) and greeted all the musicians in both languages. I remember asking Ken Pope if it was a problem the sudden influx of this foreign language in the session. "No problem at all," he replied. "They all speak like this down Dentdale."

And so started an exchange of singers which bounced backwards and forwards - the Cautley Carollers visited Zreće, the youth choir Zbor Vladko Mohorčić came here. Howgills harmony did a tour based in Zreće, the Zreće town choir Zbor Jurij

Our singers have always believed that it would be hypocritical to show hospitality to singers coming from our twin town, but then be less than welcoming to visiting singers from other towns in the Greater Sedbergh area - so we have shown the warm hand of friendship to groups such as the Northumbrian men who sing with Voicemale. They came one summer Sunday to join the Zrece Firemen's

Choir when they sang in Dent alongside a visiting Policeman's Choir from Manchester. Dennis Whicker often tells the story of how the Policemen turned up in a large coach which got stuck on the road down Dentdale. Dennis turned up and directed the traffic allowing the singing policemen to get to their concert on time. He said afterwards: "This was probably the first time that a civilian was directing the police rather than the other way round."

Likewise when the wonderful family of women singers from Zrece came to Sedbergh, Pevke iz Brinjeve Gore, the fabulous women's folk choir Wercas Folk led by folk legend Sandra Kerr came to meet them....and then joined a tour I arranged to Slovenia to complete the exchange.

When choirs come here from Slovenia they naturally want to visit other places - and rather than just be tourists our Lakeland Voice policy has always been that as well as seeing the sights we will introduce the singers to other choirs in those places. So it was that the Zrece choir met the Edinburgh Cathedral Choir, the Cambridge group Talking in Tune, and the Ambleside Community Choir; the Pevke iz Brinjeve Gore met Lancaster's Gladly Solemn Sound and Kendal's Lakeland Voices; and the Zrece male voice harmony quartet Odmev met the Dent Folk Carollers when they stayed in Cowgill for the festival, and then joined other local folk choirs when we went to sing carols in a candlelit cave at Rydal.

As well as the Greater Sedbergh area, there's also been the Greater Zrece area with our visiting English choirs in Slovenia meeting up with other choirs in Cerknica, Ljubljana, Crni Vrh, Bled, Kranj, Ptuj, Ljubljana and several other singing groups - who have then come to visit Sedbergh and other places in the North of England and Scotland, making a web of harmony and friendship within our two countries.

In this respect although we have always maintained a working relationship with the excellent and hardworking Sedbergh Town Twinning group, we've also made other links outside of this framework - which was responsible for us winning a prestigious medal from a Slovenian cultural department a few years ago for our work fostering international harmony, and for a relationship which has been forged with the two embassies in London and Ljubljana, with the ambassadors attending our concerts and encouraging us in our enterprise.

It's been a fabulous decade - convincing me that despite our cultural differences as people we are more alike than we are unalike. This year we're celebrating the heights of excellence our singers have achieved by scaling other heights - on the summer solstice English and Slovenian singers will be doing a concert on the summit of Scafell Pike - and then travelling to Slovenia where in early August we will be doing a concert on the top of Triglav, as well as in the mountain refuges on the way up and down.

But although we may wander far and wide in our search for new kindred souls to sing with, our hearts of course remain in the centre of this web of friendship, in Sedbergh and Zrece and with the good people who live there.

Do join us if you can for the singing - a warm welcome awaits you - or, if you prefer to just listen, come to our concert on June 30 which will be attended by His Excellency the Slovenian Ambassador Tadej Rupel.

occasion in 2005 will be there. Sophie Honey, our ambassador in Ljubljana hopes to join us as well.

On June 28th a group of 30 students from Zrece will arrive with their teachers. Also accompanying them will be Mayor Boris Podvrsnik and 11 musicians. On the evening of June 29th our guests will be putting on a concert for us all in Sedbergh of Slovenian music and dance. We intend to hold a barbecue on that evening as well. We are hoping that the Slovenian UK ambassador will also be able to join us. Please put this date in your diaries! Everyone is very welcome to help us celebrate this special occasion. There will be more information about time and venue nearer the event. Please keep an eye on the twinning notice board outside Powell's grocers. The mayor and musicians will be leaving the next day but the students will be with us until July 4th and we hope there will be more opportunities for them to meet as many Sedbergh citizens as possible before they go.

In the 10 years since Zrece won our hand in Twinning much has happened. Almost every year student groups have exchanged and choirs and musicians have made many trips in both directions. Three adult groups have visited our Twin Town and toured the breathtaking scenery of Slovenia. Everywhere we have enjoyed wonderful hospitality.

There is much to celebrate!

We are pleased to announce that our appeal for donations to cover the shortfall in funding the front entrance refurbishment has been successful (with the help of HMRC's Gift Aid scheme) with a little over. This small surplus will be used to complete the recladding of the wooden section between the front and side entrances. This will give the Hall an unified and attractive appearance.

There will still be some extras to pay for such as moving drains, repositioning the kitchen window, refurbishing the adjacent toilet facilities, etc.

At the time of writing the roof is being slated and the "widows" installed. The Gym Committee are now busy thinking of the internal fit out. Such items as safety CCTV,

SEDBERGH COMMUNITY SWIFTS

May is the month when our swifts return after their long flight from Africa, usually in the first week. For thousands of years they have been coming to this country to raise just one brood of chicks before leaving at the end of July for the long journey back. They have distinctive scythe shaped wings and on warm summer evenings hurtle around the roof tops in screaming parties.

A swift eats tens of thousands of insects a day – including midges!

They are true masters of the skies, only landing for 3 months when breeding. They have tiny legs and cannot perch – a bird on the wire is not a swift. The young, after they leave the nest, are completely independent of their parents, remaining on the wing until they themselves breed in 2-4 years time.

BUT SWIFTS ARE IN TROUBLE!

Over the last 20 years swifts have declined by over 40% and if we don't act now there is a real danger that they could become extinct. They are reliant on buildings for breeding, nesting in the eaves and nooks and crannies of old buildings. Their nests are hidden from sight and the only clue is if you catch sight of them as they zoom in at great speed. They often nest on top of the wall plate in the eaves but they don't enter the building itself. And the good news is that swifts are not messy birds (unlike swallows and martins!)

WHAT IS THE PROBLEM?

Swifts are faithful to their nest site, returning each year to the same place. The greatest threat is sadly from renovations and repairs which block up the entrance holes, preventing the swifts from getting in, so if this happens yet another breeding pair is lost. Modern buildings don't have crevices suitable for swifts and gradually we are losing these special birds. This is an avoidable tragedy.

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

Renovations can easily be done without altering the nest site hole or compromising the building's interior. Work should be carried out outside the breeding season. Swifts do take to nest boxes, on newer houses and

There are a number of options that will not damage properties, old or new.

HOW CAN WE HELP?

SCS plans to survey the area to find out where swift nest sites are, so we can monitor the population and see where the best places are to put up more boxes. Screaming parties can be an indicator of where they may nest. If you see us hanging around gazing up towards roof tops, don't be suspicious!

Please help save our swifts and make Sedbergh, Dent and all the surrounding area swift-friendly:

WORLD WAR ONE

Sedbergh School receives gift of WW1 trench letters

Thirty letters from the First World War have been donated to Sedbergh School, from the family of Edward Staveley Taylor (Lupton House 1909-1912). The letters cover the military career of a young man in the King's Liverpool regiment from signing up in 1914 to his death at the Somme in 1916. Together with replies from his friends and family, these documents give a first-hand account of day-to-day life for soldiers during the First World War.

The early letters record Edward's concerns about whether or not to volunteer and about leaving his mother without support at home.

During his training he describes frustration with the lack of moment, writing: 'That is one of the great faults of the Terriers, you waste such a lot of time, waiting for orders'. In one letter Edward writes to his Uncle about the food he is served in his mess and, in particular, his delight at having pineapple chunks for the first time. As the war progresses Edward writes about life in the trenches and manoeuvres he was involved in. The later letters are written by staff at No.5 casualty clearing station, detailing injuries Edward sustained in battle, his slow recovery over many months and his sudden death.

Edward came to Sedbergh School after attending Sedbergh Preparatory School and stayed at Sedbergh until just short of his nineteenth birthday. He achieved much and was a popular member of the community. The Sedberghian testifies: 'He had a quick brain and ready wit, and was generally the centre of a knot of boys, full of chaff and laughter. In his presence it was impossible to be dull: though he never gave the impression of great effect he rose rapidly in the School and in 1912 surprised and delighted his friends by winning the Sedgwick Mathematical Prize. 'At the end of his first year he had been top of his class at Classics, French and Mathematics.

We look forward to hearing from you.

The letters have been passed down through the family who have kindly donated them to Sedbergh School so that they can be preserved and made available to First World War researchers. Sedbergh School Archivist Katy de la Riviere spoke of her deep gratitude to Edward's family: "Their kindness in donating the collection has made it available to a wide audience of researchers. The minutia of daily life recorded in these letters paints a vivid picture of one man's experience of the war.'

Sedbergh School history teacher Philippa Prall is keen to share the letters with year 10 pupils in preparation for the school's annual battlefield trip later this year. She said: "It is so important to be able to teach pupils about the events of the First World War. Having these fantastic letters brings to life the experience of Sedberghian Edward Taylor and helps us share that with our pupils."

The collection also includes a photograph of Edward's gravestone taken in 1926 by a visiting family member, the papers from Edward's commission and promotions and telegrams sent to his mother on the occasion of his death. All documents in the collection are available to view at Sedbergh School Archive. For details of visiting the archive please contact the archivist on 015396 22275.

BUMBLEBEES

Gardening for bumblebees

Queen bumblebees will have been active for a week or two now on sunny days in the garden, as they seek out suitable nesting holes at or near ground level. Queens are rather easier to identify than workers and a study of these in the garden should yield five or six species without too much difficulty. First to appear (April) was the largest species Bombus terrestris (Buff-tailed Bumblebee) with a buff-white tail turning brown where it meets the black of the abdomen. The whiter tailed Bombus hortorum (Garden Bumblebee) appears in May, as does the similar Bombus lucorum (White-tailed Bumblebee), but this has stripes that are more lemon than yellow. The two red-tailed species Bombus lapidarius (Red-tailed Bumblebee) and Bombus pratorum (Early Nesting Bumblebee, having two yellow bands as well as the orange-red tail and is smaller) are also on the wing, but the ginger coloured and hairy Bombus pascuorum (Common Carder Bumblebee) does not normally appear until later in May.

HOW TO ENCOURAGE BEES

As a rule of thumb your garden should provide bee-friendly flowers that are rich in pollen and nectar which bees can easily access from spring until late summer. This will ensure that there is a good supply of pollen at all of the crucial times:

The greater the number of suitable flowering plants in your garden the better but you should aim for at least two kinds of bee-friendly plant for each flowering period. You can plant what you like in your garden so long as it doesn't escape into the wild. You will find all sorts of exotic things in garden centres and catalogues which bees will enjoy.

Try growing Viper's bugloss, Echium vulgare. This is a magnificent plant for a herbaceous border, with spikes of vivid blue flowers up to 60cm (2ft) tall. And it will attract a cloud of bumblebees in high summer.

Bumblebee species differ in the length of their tongues, and, as a result, prefer different flowers. For

BUILDING A BEES' NEST IN YOUR GARDEN

What you need:

A flowerpot (> 20cm in diameter)

A piece of slate / tile

A bit of tube or pipe

Instructions:

Sink the upturned flower pot into the ground and use the slate/ tile to cover any drainage holes to keep the rain out. Run a hose or pipe underground to the pot, leaving a prominent entrance. Be sure to make drainage holes in the pipe. Finally, fill with a generous handful of nesting material, such as old bedding from a pet mouse, guinea pig, etc.

pesticides in your garden. They are often labelled as 'bug killers' or something similar, but almost all of these can harm bumblebees, even if you don't intend to harm them. Some pests can be controlled by simply planting certain other plants nearby, and you can learn more about this on the BBC Gardening website

AGE UK

Age UK South Lakeland are to hold a My Life, My Decision Talk, Plan, Live Roadshow during Dying Matters Week in Sedbergh.

Age UK South Lakeland Talk, Plan, Live Roadshow visiting Sedbergh on 20th May between 11am and 2pm, alongside the Age UK Mobile Shop on Joss Lane Car Park.

Come along to collect information, talk to our team and take part in our FREE Tombola!

Age UK South Lakeland is holding a Talk, Plan, Live Roadshow to provide a wide range of information about End of Life support in order to raise awareness of its My Life, My Decision project which supports older people to plan ahead for their future medical treatment.

The event is part of the Dying Matters Awareness Week (18-24 May 2015), which has been organised by the Dying Matters Coalition to encourage people to talk openly about dying, death and bereavement. My Life, My Decision is an outreach service set up by Compassion in Dying in partnership with seven local Age UKs across England, and offers support to over-50s in making their end-of-life wishes for treatment and care known. The value of the service has been acknowledged by the Health Select Committee, where MPs recently recommended that the Government should engage with the partnership to learn key lessons about supporting people to plan ahead.

The theme of Dying Matters Awareness Week 2015 is 'Talk, Plan, Live', an action-focused theme emphasising that we only get once chance to have our dying wishes met, which is why it's vital to talk, plan and make arrangements for the end of life. My Life, My Decision has been working in South Lakeland since August 2014 and offers one-to-one support for people who want to discuss and plan their treatment and care options, including information on Advance Decisions, Advance Statements and Lasting Power of Attorney.

As part of the awareness week, My Life, My Decision will be offering a roadshow alongside the Mobile Shop. Our team will be on hand to give information about Wills, Funeral Plans and all Age UK services available to enable people to start conversations with loved ones, plan well for the future and live well with peace of mind.

Ruth Forsyth My Life My Decision Coordinator with Age UK South Lakeland said:

"Everyone should have their treatment and care wishes respected but currently there is a lack of awareness around end-of-life rights, only 4% of people have their wishes recorded in an Advance Decision. "My Life, My Decision has been training professionals and volunteers in South Lakeland to empower people in making their own decisions and Dying Matters week is a great opportunity for people to find out more about how they can plan for the end of life.

"Talking about dying is the first step. My Life, My Decision supports people to take the next step and record their preferences for end-of-life care in an Advance Statement or through a legally binding Advance Decision or Lasting Power of Attorney, so that if something happens and they can't communicate, doctors know about and respect their wishes."

South Lakeland Resident Mrs W made a Lasting Power of Attorney with support from the My Life, My Decision project. She said "the support I received was so helpful, going through all points of the form with explanations, in the comfort and relaxed atmosphere of my own home, made a big difference. For me to have had to call in at the office would have been difficult for me due to my poor mobility."

PEOPLE'S GYM & FITNESS CENTRE

AGM Thursday 9 April 2015

We had a good meeting and received the good news that we have just about enough funds to complete the building itself. This is a really great result and all down to the enormous hard work of Gina Barney in applying for and obtaining grants, not to mention her drive in project managing the build itself.

However, there was also a discussion about what we still need to be able to actually open and run the gym. These were items such as the cost of insurance, door security, electrical supply, heating, new equipment, carpets, mirrors, water cooler etc. We also discussed the need for a working management committee that can take over from Gina now and get estimates for these things and suggest ways of raising the funds that we still need before we can open.

It was very disappointing to see only four people other than Sandra and Rosemary attend the AGM, though we are very grateful for the time and the input given by those four. But there is a lot of support for this gym in the community and we really need committee members now. If you would like to join the committee please contact Sandra or Rosemary, or message us on Facebook. We are not looking for a huge commitment from you. We just need you to come along to meetings now and again and

Live Music - Sunday 24 May 2015
2pm to 5.30pm

This is going to be a wonderful afternoon of live acoustic folk and popular music in the United Reformed Church. This is a great venue and we have four great acts for you. Brendan Lewes who grew up in Sedbergh and currently lives in Germany is a singer/songwriter and is taking a break from his tour of northwest England to play his music for us. Kev Kendal is also performing. He is straight from his phenomenally successful appearance as Noisy Yates in the recent panto, and from his performance at the Brewery Arts Centre as support act to The Jam! We have Strings and Swings who are a great duo who play a wide variety of popular songs. And we have our up and coming young band Triadic who went down an absolute storm at our previous live music event at the People's Hall last September.

It is amazing to have all this talent on our doorstep so please come along and support the acts. Admission is £7 on the door to include tea and cake, and all proceeds will go to the gym. We think CCTV equipment will cost about £300 so let's see if we can raise enough from this event to pay for the CCTV. It is a bank holiday weekend so if you will be away please make a donation of £7 to support the event.

Advance donations

We are so close to opening the gym now and you can help bring the opening date closer by paying advance memberships of £10 per month. In return, when the gym opens you will get one month's free membership for every month you have paid a £10 advance payment. Please contact Rosemary for the bank details to set up a standing order. We do have people who are already paying advance memberships and we are very

MARCH WEATHER

March "many weathers" lived up to its name but it came in like a lion and left the same way contrary to weather lore. It was a bit quieter on its way out. I was quite a breezy month high of 21.6mph on the first and 19.4mph on the last day. On only 3 days did the wind not blow from the north westerly quarter. Likewise the first and last days were the ones with very low pressure. Temperatures increased as the month went on with a high of 58.6F (14.5C). We had lots of cold nights with many ground frosts and 8 nights of actual frosts. The minimum temperature was 27.1F (-2C). On only one night did the wind chill not take the temperatures below freezing.

The crocuses were out and gone before the bees could work them. Early signs of the daffodils are that there are quite a few blind ones amongst our established ones. The newer ones look more promising. Bird song is increasing and there is a little more activity at the feeding station. I have cleaned, repaired and disinfected the bird boxes and disinfected the swallows nest in hopeful anticipation they will be used again. A swallows nest in which they had chicks die was simply alive with mites, hence the spray. The bees have ventured out on cleansing flights on the better days. Next month is "lack of sleep month" i.e. lambing!!

SEDBERGH & DISTRICT HISTORY SOCIETY

On Wednesday 18th March a large, captive audience was treated to a full-blooded, highly topical and provocative talk given by Dr Sandra Pendlington entitled 'King Richard III: Lord of the North and the search for his Grave'. Dr Pendlington, as an active member of the Scottish Branch of the Richard III Society for 40 years and editor of the Scottish Journal, is well qualified to expound her theories and expertise on one of the most controversial characters in the history of the British monarchy. The diverse arguments surrounding his accession to the throne in 1483, the mystery of the deaths/disappearances of the two princes in the Tower, the exact nature of his own death in the Battle of Bosworth on 22nd August 1485 (aged just 32), and the subsequent uncertainties regarding the fate of the corpse – all these controversies were dramatically re-ignited when, of course, his skeletal remains were uncovered buried beneath a car park in Leicester on 25th August 2012 (precisely 527 years to the day after his burial). And now, just one week after Dr Pendlington's talk (26th March 2015) the body is about to be re-buried in its new coffin and tombstone in Leicester Cathedral after a procession from Bosworth Field and three days of lying in state.

The first part of the talk, however, covered Richard's less celebrated years as the Warden of the West Marches in the North-west of England from 1471 (as an 18 year-old) to 1483. Having spent his earlier teenage years at Middleham Castle in North Yorkshire, the then Richard Plantagenet Duke of Gloucester made his home near Penrith, visiting Dockray Hall, now the Gloucester Arms pub. Later he moved further north to Carlisle Castle, erecting a new tower in the north curtain wall to add protection against the frequent Scots border raids. Under his tenure he seemingly built up a strong reputation as a firm but fair Warden, introducing novel ideas on bail and the presumption of innocence to the legal procedure.

Indeed, Dr Pendlington was keen to stress the many positive aspects of the character of this much-maligned historical figure. Often referred to as 'The Usurper King', one line of enquiry now puts him as the rightful heir to Edward IV's throne. Decried as deformed and ugly, his curved spine was actually due to scoliosis, developed in teenage years, and even the Tudor-biased 'White Survey', the Crowland Chronicle of the Battle of Bosworth which is essentially a catalogue of hate against Richard, describes him as 'spirited' and 'brave' in his ultimate demise. Three days after his death he was buried at the back of Leicester's Greyfriars Friary, with a tomb erected over the grave nine years later. However, in 1611 the mapmaker John Speede could not find the tomb (probably due to confusion between 'Greyfriars' and 'Blackfriars') leading to rumours of the body having been thrown into the River Soar, or pulled down and defaced during the late 1530s Dissolution of the Monasteries.

The final part of Dr Pendlington's talk related to the detailed investigative work of Phillipa Langley (secretary and founder of the Scottish Branch of the Richard III Society), John Ashdown-Hill, herself, Audrey Strange and others in their belief and quest to find King Richard's remains. They had established that they would almost certainly be located at the site of the original Greyfriars Friary, now a social services car park.

At 2.15pm on the first day of the dig, at the spot where Phillipa had experienced a strange frisson when standing alone, a leg bone was uncovered... then a curved spine... . Subsequent DNA investigations and examination of the skeleton, including two clearly fatal blows to the skull, eventually confirmed its identity.

Dr Pendlington then fielded a number of questions ranging from the burial argument – York or Leicester – to the fate of the princes. She was thanked for providing such a stimulating evening, a fine conclusion to this season's lectures.

SEDBERGH FLOWER & PRODUCE SHOW

Calling all gardeners, allotment holders and flower arrangers

Don't forget that the Sedbergh Flower and Produce Show will be held in the Peoples Hall on Saturday August 29th. It will be open to the public from 1.00 until it closes about 4.00pm.

It may still be cold but some of your seeds need to be going in if you are intending to put your flowers and veg in the show. And we hope you are!

It's really not a new show at all but the revival of an old one and will complement the very popular Spring Show held in Sedbergh each year in April - but more of that next month.

There will also be an opening for a local organisation to do the catering for the afternoon – the facilities of the Peoples Hall will be made available free of charge and the small committee room can also be used. If any organisation would like to have a chance to do this could you please contact Shelagh or Ann for more details. It is an opportunity for you to raise funds for your own organisation.

If there are still some of you out there who would like to help either in the preparation or as part of the day please let Shelagh know. We can always do with extra help. And remember you don't have to be a gardener to help run the show – just come and be part of the fun - we'd love to see you. And you can do as much or as little as you like.

So happy planting everyone and here's hoping for a good growing season.

Dennis welcomed Elspeth, Elizabeth, Jean, Susan, Margaret, Jessie, May, Rosemary, Jennifer and the two Jennies to the April Meeting. A great deal was said at the Meeting of which I heard very little.

A venue for June's meal out was chewed over - a decision will be made next month.

The dangers to life and limb of walking on Sedbergh's footpaths were brought up. It was generally felt that having to use the street is not a safe alternative.

Susan compiled, presented and was congratulated and thanked for an ingeniously colourful quiz. The 'A' team shaded victory over the 'B' Team.

MAY GARDENING

May is my favourite month for planting out new plants in the garden. By now, I reckon that the worst of the frosts will be over so it is safe to remove plants of slightly suspect hardiness from their protected places in garden centres or nurseries and introduce them to my cold and rather windswept plot. Herbs such as rosemary and sage, lavender and thyme are very short lived in this garden – though thyme has proved to do quite well if grown in a terracotta pot. Shrubs such as Cistus (sun rose), Lavatera (tree mallow), Erysimum (perennial wallflower) and most "hardy" Fuchsias also give up. If I add one or two of these things to the garden at this time of the year then I will have colour, fragrance and, in the case of the edible things, flavour for the whole summer and autumn.

There are several cultivars of my favourite herbs. I like "Lemon Thyme" (Thymus x citriodorus 'Doone Valley,) for its variegated leaves and zesty fragrance, and Common Thyme (Thymus vulgaris) for its flavour. "Purple Sage" Salvia officinalis 'Purpurascens' is decorative in leaf, but, should the plant survive at least one winter, I prefer ordinary Common Sage as this blooms more freely in the second year and the rich purple/blue flowers make a lovely show beside the path in summer.

Rosemary (Rosmarinus officinalis) varies very much in hardiness, but the upright form, 'Sudbury Blue' is supposed to survive temperatures down to - 15c so that will be the one to try next. I suspect that it will still need very good drainage at the root if it is to survive the winter mist and damp. As for Lavender (Lavandula angustifolia), the Nation's favourite has become 'Hidcote', the dwarf, neat, cultivar, which bears deep violet coloured flowers. If this is your choice, do make sure that you buy this from a reliable source. Hidcote labels have been known to be freely used on all sorts of things. Recent new cultivars include L.x intermedia 'Heavenly Angel', 'Heavenly Night' and 'Heavenly Scent' which all share a good perfume, and are later flowering than previous angustifolia and x intermedia plants and hence extend the season. SEDBERGH BOOKTOWN

Partnership with Booktown Literary Trust

Durham University's Department of English is immensely pleased to announce that it has agreed a formal partnership with Sedbergh Booktown Literary Trust. The aim of the partnership is to stimulate new interest in literature and generate new audiences for books, especially in the north of England. The partners will work closely together to organise a series of lively events, including lectures, writing workshops, and readings. Plans are already underway for a programme of events exploring the evolution of English poetry from Beowulf to Brigflatts.

Durham University holds the archive of the Northumbrian poet, Basil Bunting, who was a frequent visitor to Sedbergh, and who titled his best-known work Brigflatts (1966) after the nearby Quaker hamlet of that name. Bunting praised the spiritual solace and tranquility of the place and took inspiration from the local landscape around Sedbergh, including the River Rawthey.

The English Department at Durham is one of the top university research departments in the country (currently ranked 1st for teaching and research in The Complete University Guide). It teaches all aspects of English literature from Anglo-Saxon and Old Norse to the present day, and it has particular strengths in the study of British, Irish, and American poetry.

Professor Stephen Regan, who is leading the collaboration for the University, has a strong attachment to Sedbergh, having spoken about Basil

Bunting on several occasions at the Sedbergh Books and Drama Festival. He commented that it was 'an enormous pleasure and a privilege for Durham University to have such a good working relationship with the people of Sedbergh and to have a partnership with one of the UK's premier book towns'. He hoped that support would be forthcoming from many good-willed individuals and organisations, and that the shared endeavours of Durham and Sedbergh would generate new cultural events and new creative projects for both places.

SEDBERGH FIRST RESPONDERS

Three of us have passed our training, one is waiting to be assessed, sixteen more are applying, waiting to be interviewed, DRB checked and trained. We hope to hold the training in Sedbergh.

So the good news is that we could soon have a team of up to twenty First Responders!

NWAS provides us with one set of kit. The rest we have to buy ourselves. Ultimately we would like to have one set of equipment for each

First Responder, but recognise that initially we will have to share. Committee members are putting in grant applications to both local and national charities. One or two local groups have started to fund raise for us. And we have some collecting boxes around the town— one is in the craftworkshop, should you wish to donate!

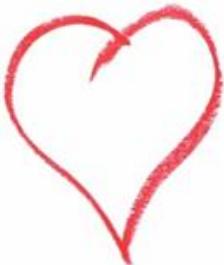

As we move towards the practicalities of becoming fully operational (probably at the end of June now) we have learned about the pagers that we will have to use.

These are necessary because even if

First Responders live in an area where there is a mobile phone signal – they may be sent to an area where there is none, and will be unable to contact the Control Centre.

The pagers work everywhere, apparently. The Parish Council has agreed to sponsor four pagers for a year. We are wondering if any local businesses may feel able to sponsor a pager? They cost £18 a month, which is going to deplete our funds.

In order to be effective we are going to need some practical help from YOU! How easily can someone who doesn't know you well find your home? Are you the third house on the left up a track? Or perhaps, like me, your 'front' door is at the back, off a yard? How will we - or the ambulance team - find you if the need arises? A group of neighbours might get together to 'signpost' where their house is. In a situation where minutes matter this could be vital. To this same end we are starting a 'mapping' exercise which will help us more than postcodes or GPS. We even have to 'define' where 'our' area is, sine we seem to be filling the gaps between Dent, Gardsale, Kirkby Lonsdale, Grayrigg, Kirkby Stephen etc..

If you would like to help our First Responder Group you can come and meet some of us at the Gala on 16th May. We may even have our new reflective jackets by then! Perhaps you could bake some heart-shaped cakes for us to sell? We hope to demonstrate cardiac massage as well as collect donations and information. We now have an e-mail address:

sedberghfirstresponders@gmail.com

. And we plan to shake our collection boxes again on 23rd May.

Finally, our thanks to our supporters, especially this month to the Ladies NFU who we hear have done us proud and to the United Sedbergh Charities who are helping us on our way!

CITIZENS ADVICE BUREAU

Spring Clean your debts

As we head into spring and hopefully warmer weather, it's a good time to sort out any debts. Council Tax debts remain the largest debt type across the country, up almost a quarter (24%) on last year, as a 'priority debt' you need to pay the debt off before other debts so it's important to get advice.

You don't need to cope alone with any debt or money worry. Our advisers are just a phone call away, and we have lots of different ways that we can help depending on your circumstances. Together we can look at your budget and see how you could make any savings, identify if you are entitled any other income, and we can work on your behalf in arranging affordable repayments to your creditors.

Free, confidential advice and help is available from South Lakes Citizens Advice Bureau on any aspect of debt, consumer problems, benefits, housing, employment and any other problems. We have various outlets across South Lakeland and can also give advice over the phone – telephone 015394 46464 for an appointment and help.

SEDBERGH PLAYGROUP

Sedbergh Playgroup has had a busy but wonderful year. We are holding our annual Open Sessions on the evening on Thursday 7th May and the afternoon of Friday 8th May. These sessions are for all. For parents and families of children currently at playgroup who would like to look at the artwork the children have made over the year and speak to the leaders, prospective parents who would like to view the facilities and chat with staff and those from our community who are interested in what Sedbergh Playgroup does and has within its site. Please pop along to either session.

The annual Playgroup Duck race will be on Sunday 17th May at 2pm at Holme Farm (meet at bridge just before). Ducks will be available before the event and if you bring along your own novelty duck you can enter the Novelty Duck race and win a prize! Ducks available from Playgroup children and staff. All welcome on the day!

SEDBERGH BOWLING CLUB

At the AGM in February, Geoff Thompson was elected President for this year. The Westmorland Seniors started on 27th April and they have made an extra division, so we have slightly less fixtures. The Kendal and District League started on 9th April and the Rural League on 1st May.

We shall be holding the Open Pairs Competition on 26th May starting at 9.30am. Sixty four players enter this long running popular competition, which is our main fundraiser. Refreshments will be on sale.

On 19th September we are holding the Merit Playoffs of Division 5 and there will be a Coffee Morning on 21st October, also a BBQ and social to be enjoyed. We are hoping for good weather for our matches and competitions. There will be Taster Sessions on Wednesday May 13th and Wednesday May 27th at 6.30pm. Do come along and have a try. Please wear flat shoes but bowls will be provided.

Why not come and watch some of the games. Have a cuppa and enjoy the beautiful surroundings at the Green and car park. It is kept planted and tidy by Carole Townson. When not bowling she is always busy weeding and our thanks go to her. If you require any further information ring Linda on Sedbergh 20279.

PEOPLE'S HALL MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE

It will be noted elsewhere in Lookaround that there are two vacancies for Elected Trustees for the People's Hall. The Constitution requires that all current Trustees step down at the end of each AGM and are replaced by newly elected people. So the whole lot can be thrown out if the people so will it. But it usually happens the same people that stepped down are re-elected. This is not a good thing as committees become stale.

We are looking for new blood either to fill the two vacancies or to be a representative of one of the user groups. How about it Baby & Toddler Group, Young Farmers, Art Society, Farfield Mill, Junior Football Club to name a few?

Anyone interested in filling the casual vacancies or being a representative trustee are welcome to come a meeting and see what they can do to help the Town's community centre become even better.

Our current Treasurer does wish to pass the reigns to someone else. There must be someone out there who can take over. If there is please talk to Sean on 21833 or me.

*Dr Gina Barney,
Hon. Secretary (20790).*

CYCLING & WALKING GROUP

Seventy Summits at Seventy – an illustrated talk by Martin Dodds on Monday the 25th May at 7:30pm, at the People's Hall.

In 2014, to celebrate his seventieth year, Martin climbed seven summits in ten different areas that had significance or memories for him, including the Howgills, the Falkland Islands and the Cheviots. Sometimes he walked alone, sometimes he was in the company of friends. Now he shares something of the experience with us.

This is one of a series of free public talks entitled Talking the Walk – Adventures on Foot at Home and Abroad organised by the Sedbergh Area Walking and Cycling Group. For further details see:

www.sedberghgateway.org.uk/events.

Suggestions for further talks and walking- or cycling-related activities to Carole Nelson at The Sleepy Elephant please. Robert Powell

SEDBERGH GALA QUEEN

I'd just like to introduce myself as I'm Sedbergh's Gala Queen 2015-2016. My name is Bethany Handley and I live on a small farm in Millthrop on the outskirts of Sedbergh. I'm very excited to be this year's Gala Queen, as I have lived in Sedbergh all my life and have attended every Gala since I can remember but also attended other events within the community. I think that being Gala Queen will give me an even closer link with the community.

I'm currently working very hard studying for my GCSEs. But I also love to get involved in other events in and out of school. I entered the spring show in 2014 with four decorated cupcakes, which won first prize, and also won best item entered in the show, which meant I received a trophy.

I have many duties outside of school, such as working at Farfield Mill for a few hours on a weekend where I help wash up and wait on; I also often help out on the family farm doing various jobs; and I love baking; I spend at least two hours baking each weekend making splendid delights.

I'm very grateful that I have the opportunity to be the Gala Queen and I hope to perform the role just as well as previous Gala Queens.

EDITORIAL,

As reported last month, there were technical problems and I thank those that updated me regarding errors.

Could you please ensure that my e-mail address on your system is editor@sedberghlookaround.org.uk and not lookaround@whicker73.freeserve.co.uk as I cannot guarantee to pick them up from there any more.

This month, we have two New regular Advertisers with

- i) Graham Moore Chimney Sweep
- ii) Graham Milburn Weed Control

Please give them your support and tell them that you saw their Advert in Lookaround.

I have been asked to mention the problems regarding Dog Fouling and to inform visitors and remind locals that dog excreta should be picked up using suitable bags and placed in any waste bin in the town - and not left on fences and walls. We live in a beautiful part of the country and it is a shame when a minor issue like this becomes a larger one. Then there is the health issue so dogs everywhere, please train your owners.
